

ROYAL Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Healthful cream of tartar, derived solely from grapes, refined to absolute purity, is the active principle of every pound of Royal Baking Powder.

Hence it is that Royal Baking Powder renders the food remarkable both for its fine flavor and healthfulness.

No alum, no phosphate—which are the principal elements of the so-called cheap baking powders—and which are derived from bones, rock and sulphuric acid.

JUSTICE MURPHY IN A RECORD SESSION

Metropolitan Finish Given to Disposition of Law Breakers' Cases.

The court room of Justice Murphy yesterday presented a scene seldom duplicated in this section. It was a motley horde of petty law breakers that were before his honor to answer to the array of charges pressed against them. For the most part they were over-Sunday jags and booze binges, but there seemed to be a generous sprinkling of crippled beggars and a few "mooches," not crippled anywhere unless it was in their brains for fire water, and their willingness to go to a "tremble" to get a supply of the good.

Sweden was represented by a trio of jag festers who had engaged in a three-cornered fight in Brewery Gulch, and who had refused to break at the command of Referee Arthur Mullen.

The beggars all had a spiel ready for the judge. "Just wanted to get enough to get to El Paso," etc., and to their appeals the judge lent a sympathetic ear hidden behind a wrathful voice which commanded them to hit the trail.

James McGowan was given till evening to get the money. He got—out of town.

Fred Karlbo was full Sunday. He got boisterous and waxed profane at his fellow man on the public highway. Five dollars for Fred.

Andy Nord, Alex Olson and another Swede who made himself scarce got tangled up in a three-cornered fight for all. Olson claims he was set upon by the other two. He looked it. Nord also set up a like claim, and his facial adornments bore him out. It was puzzling to the judge. It cost each of them ten.

It cost John Krah $5 for raising a disturbance on Main street Sunday, as well as talking back to Officer Mullen. Fred Keedy broke a city ordinance. He also broke the record in getting out to collect $5 to add to Judge Murphy's bank account.

Fred Dawson, cripple, begged alms on the streets without the necessary permit from the marshal. Fred had to leave town.

Charles Harper paid the court $5 for being drunk, disorderly and of a disturbing frame of mind.

BISBEE TEACHERS OFF FOR PHOENIX

Loaded Train Leaves Bisbee For Scene of Good Times at Territorial Fair.

The teachers of Bisbee, Lowell and environs left yesterday in a body for Phoenix, where they will be present at the convention of the Arizona Teachers' Association, as well as incidentally take in the Territorial Fair in progress at the capital during the present week.

Beside the teachers of the city there were enough others to crowd the regular stub train and overflow a special Pullman tacked on for the occasion. It was a merry looking crowd that left the city yesterday, and with the contingent already on the road or at the scene of festivities already, Bisbee should be well represented in Phoenix this week.

Among the teachers in the party were: Misses Riley, Hosmer, Wilmer, Barker, Smith, Malan, Black, Phillips, Blakemore, Perkins, Estelle Harmon, Ethel Harmon, Patterson, Stagner, Edwards, Wright, Cowan, Lewis, Kindred, Stewart, Messner and Griggs; Mrs. Quick and Messrs. Kirinbil, teachers of music and Fletcher of the manual training department.

Others leaving on the same train were: Mrs. W. B. Kelly and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Dobson, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. McDonald, Mr. Carl McIntosh, Mr. and Mrs. John Hogan, Mr. and Mrs. John Fredericks.

gar's game. But he begged enough so that he had $5 for Judge Murphy when that worthy demanded the coin. El Rios, a Mexican employed at the Copper Queen store, was up on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. Rios claimed that he was going to Tucson, and that he merely put a gun in his pocket in order that he might leave it at his home in the city. The prisoner's appeal did not strike the judge as being on the square, so he took Rios $25 in cash and ten days in jail.

HANLEY DRAGGED TO DEATH BY HORSE

Well Known Prospector Comes to Tragic End—Was An Old Resident of the County and Industrious Citizen.

John Hanley, an old time prospector and miner of this county, met his end Sunday afternoon, presumably by being dragged to death at the heels of a frightened team of horses. The unfortunate tragedy occurred at a well in the vicinity of the old Copper Glance mine, where Hanley was at the time watering his team.

Just how Hanley was killed may never be known, but it is the accepted theory that he stopped at the Glance well to water a team of horses he was driving, and while engaged in loosening the reins, or while about to start after watering his horse, became frightened and was trampled to death beneath the feet of the maddened team.

He was picked up by passersby late Sunday afternoon. At that time he was unconscious. He died about two hours later without regaining consciousness. Undertaker Robert Hennessy yesterday morning went to the Glance and brought the remains of the unfortunate man to this city to prepare them for burial. Interment will be at Evergreen cemetery after a funeral service at St. Patrick's church this afternoon.

John Hanley was about 55 or 60 years of age as far as can be learned. He had no immediate relatives in the vicinity. He was a native of Ireland, coming to this section of the country several years ago. He followed the occupation of miner for years, but of late has been doing assessment work in the Solomon Springs district for W. H. and M. J. Brophy and A. T. Sowle. He was engaged on assessment work for the above named gentlemen at the time of his death.

PROTECTIVE MEASURE AGAINST OVERCHARGE

Bisbee Board of Trade to Keep a Check On All Freight Charges Made.

The Bisbee merchants are about to take steps in the matter of freight charges that will insure them absolute protection insofar as overcharges are concerned. A meeting of the Bisbee Board of Trade is to be held Wednesday at which time proper measures are to be adopted for the installation of a system of checking that is hoped to prove effective and which, it is claimed by some of the merchants, will save to the entire body hundreds of dollars in a year. An office will be opened and a competent rate clerk put in charge of all the details passing between the railroads and members of the board.

It is contended on the part of the local merchants that shipments billed to Bisbee are invariably charged the maximum rate, thus operating against the consignee and depriving him of the benefits to which he is often entitled by reason of another and lower rate.

To alleviate this and to reduce the cost of shipping in goods, the Board of Trade has hit upon the plan outlined above. In doing so they are simply following the system in vogue in other and larger cities throughout the land. The movement shows enterprising forethought in keeping with the advance of the commercial interests of the community.

NICHOLS WILL BE MILLIONAIRE VERY SOON

Former Bisbeeite Has Been Rewarded For Kindness To Two Prospectors Who Return Him Hundredfold.

The following telling of how C. F. Nichols, formerly of Bisbee, got in on the "ground floor" of both mining property and townsite at the new town of Duluth in Nevada is taken from the Cox Mining Journal, a publication issued for investors by the Cox Investment company, of New York and San Francisco:

"Little did C. F. Nichols of Carson City think when he invested a few dollars in the bank of human kindness that it would make him a millionaire before three months were past. But it did and this is how it happened:

"About the first of last July two old-time prospectors from Arizona struck Goldfield. They were 'up against it' (in common phraseology) and Goldfield they found a man who had known them in their better days that was willing to advance them a little money in order to put them on their feet again. Contrary to expectations, as soon as they had gotten the money and provisioned themselves and bought an outfit, they disappeared from Goldfield. The man who had loaned them the money, C. F. Nichols of Carson City, knew them as old-timers, whole-souled sort of fellows who were just as ready to give as to receive, but would do either under circumstances. He never expected to see them again, at least for some time, and thought no more about the money he had advanced them.

"Nichols lived in Carson City, and one night just about three months after somebody knocked at his door. He opened it, and lo, and behold, who did he see there but W. H. Bills and Dave Fife the old-timers, whom he had put on their feet in Goldfield, and they had their story to tell.

"They told of a strike of marvelous richness they had made about 25 miles from Goldfield. They said they had named the camp 'Duluth' and had staked out a number of claims on their own hook, and hurried back to tell their benefactor the good news. They told of a glowing account of the richness of the showing that Nichols (who was a man of few words and more actions) did not stand upon the order of going but went at once. He went down town and arranged to rent an automobile, but there was 'nothing doing,' and he could not rent one for love or money, but by this time the stories of Fife and Bills got to working pretty strong on Nichols so he bought an automobile and in the dead of night started out for the Camp 'Duluth.' Fife and Bills had not worked on their imagination at all for the story they had told Nichols. When he arrived there in the morning and went over the ground that had been located by the two old-timers, Nichols was so enthused with the proposition that he immediately set to work to locate the whole neighborhood. He located in all 52 claims, which included the town site and water rights, and then went back to Carson and told the people of the find. Four days after that there was a town of 500 inhabitants with seven saloons, three stores, a bank, hotel and a restaurant in Duluth, an auto line running from Tonopah and two daily stage lines from Mina, the nearest point on the Southern Pacific.

Duluth is situated 25 miles northwest of Goldfield in the Paradise range of mountains and the veins that have been uncovered (two in all) the first is uncovered for a distance of 190 feet, is 12 inches wide and ore running $4,000 to the ton has been taken from this one. The second is uncovered for 170 feet and values as high as $7,862 have been taken from it. These two veins appear in ledges of free milling 3 to 4 feet wide, which average $423 to the ton.

"All this happened three weeks ago, and today there are 20 leases working on the Dave Fife's Climax claim and 50 tons of ore has been sacked and is now waiting transportation to the railroad. Free gold is found in the float which covers several of the claims. The gold was first found by Fife on the Climax claim. A few days later, his partner, Bills, found rich pieces of float which fairly sparkled with gold and after careful investigation the source was found, where after a few days hard work a rich ledge was opened up. Since the strike another party named Cramer has opened up a rich ledge about two miles from the original discoveries and a number of Tonopah and Goldfield operators have gotten into the district located considerable ground and are now developing their holdings."

"I have not seen the eastern part of the country yet, but from what I have heard, I believe that it is equally as rich as the other is promising."

"On account of its central location and climatic conditions, Prescott is the natural supply point of the districts visited, which I believe are equal to any in the west in the way of mineral resources. In my opinion, the merchants and business men here should do more to advertise the resources of the country than appears to have been done in the past. They do not appear to realize the immense resources of the country bordering all around them or the advantages to be gained from liberal and legitimate advertising."

"I have decided to cast my lot here," he concluded, "and I am very anxious to see this country come to the front."

ARIZONA WILL LEAD IN RED METAL

Prominent Mining Engineer Makes Prediction That in Five Years Territory Will Have Largest Output.

"From what I have seen of western and southwestern Yavapai, Mohave and that part of Yuma county tributary to the Arizona & California railroad, I make the statement without hesitation, that with reasonable development in these sections, Arizona will be far in the lead as a copper producer five years hence." Such was the statement made to a Journal-Miner man by J. P. Bedling, a mining engineer of over thirty years' experience in the mining states of the west, who returned here lately from an extended trip through these parts.

"The great surface indications of copper and gold mines in the Harqua Hala, Hareuver and Bill Williams Park mountains is only equalled," he said, "by the showings found in that part of Yavapai county extending from the Hillside mine to the Mohave county boundary and west to the line of Yuma county."

"Surpassing anything that I ever witnessed, either in the Black Hills of Dakota, or the great Montana mines, is a ledge on Harro Creek, near its mouth, over 200 feet in width and which is cut by a canyon to a depth of 300 feet, the entire body of quartz sampling $4 to the ton in gold."

"In the Black Rock district I saw some very promising copper ledges in addition to the O'Brien gold mines, from which there will be an immense output when the reduction plant is installed and in operation."

"The King Solomon shaft is now down past the 400 foot level, from which some very high grade gold ore is being mined. There is a great copper mine in the Uncle Sam group, which is now idle, from some unknown cause, although it is a well known fact that there is shipping ore in it from the grassroots down."

"Experience has proven here, as in other mining countries that deep mining pays. It is a recognized fact that wherever good ore has been found near the surface that it also exists at depth, although the veins may be broken by many faults. As a general rule, the ledges in all the great mines have been more continuous and the ore bodies richer and more permanent below the 500-foot levels, for the reason that in the majority of cases the surface crest of the earth has rarely been disturbed below the 300-foot level by earthquake disturbances. Old miners all remember that when the Nevada mines were visited by an earthquake the greatest shocks were felt underground and in near the 300-foot level, while below the 500-foot level, where the ledge was better defined than nearer the surface, no shock was experienced by any of the underground workmen."

"I have not seen the eastern part of the country yet, but from what I have heard, I believe that it is equally as rich as the other is promising."

"On account of its central location and climatic conditions, Prescott is the natural supply point of the districts visited, which I believe are equal to any in the west in the way of mineral resources. In my opinion, the merchants and business men here should do more to advertise the resources of the country than appears to have been done in the past.
